

Richard Kayne

NYU

On the limits of computation

I will explore some aspects of the question: 'What range of properties of the human language faculty can be ascribed to its computational component?'